

THE COST OF GETTING IT WRONG

- Lost productivity while teams adjust
- High turnover and replacement costs
- Costly rework from poor adoption
- Slower execution and reduced ROI
- Reputation damage from a failed initiative